THE RESULT.

To those who believe that the interests of Alberta, and particularly Northern Alberta, have not been properly represented at Ottawa during the past four years, the result of the recent contest has been most disappointing. The majority secured by Mr. Davis can only be accepted as an endorsement of the course he has pursued and of his failure to exert himself on behalf of his constituents. The question of the general policy of the party led by Sir John A. Macdonald was not up for consideration. Mr. Reilly was beyond doubt an equally earnest and much more able supported and advocate of liberal conservatism than Mr. Davis. The difference between the two candidates was that Mr. Davis always had voted and spoken and always could vote and speak as party exigencies demanded in matters small as well as great, and that therefore he could not be expected to advocate the claims of his constituents as became his duty as their representative. Mr. Reilly promised to support the government and its general policy, but received the right to vote against it when its policy clashed with the interests of his constituents. This was the only issue between the two men, and the majority secured by Mr. Davis is the the announcement of the electors of Alberta to the world that they do not want their interests protected. The circumstances which led to this result are not known and do not matter to the outside world, to parliament or to the government. The result itself is all that need be known, and upon that result future action in regard to Alberta will be based. What that action will be we can well judge by what it has been, and if it is not more satisfactory in the future than it has been in the past the electors of Alberta well know who will be to blame. They have declared by an immense majority that they are pleased with Mr. Davis' course towards them and Mr. Davis is too good a business man to alter a course which has given so much satisfaction.

Mr. Reilly was most ill advised in entering a contest in which he had no more chance of winning than he now appears to have had without saying. He has been the means of bleeding Mr. Davis pretty heavily for election expenses, and his candidature has been a loss which many fine promises have been wrung from the government—which may or may not be fulfilled—but those who have received the benefit will be the last to thank Mr. Reilly for them. Mr. Reilly received his best support in the Edmonton district. That support was given him as a protest against the treatment which this section of the country had received at the hands of Mr. Davis, and as a notice to Mr. Davis and the government which he supports that the electors here know when they are not properly treated and are not afraid to say so. Had the protest been stronger it would have been all the better, but it was as strong as could fairly be expected under all the circumstances. Had other sections of the district done as well as Edmonton, even if Mr. Davis had remained member, Alberta would not have occupied a place in the list of more pocket constituencies, as it does to day—as a district whose claims do not require to be considered on the same footing as another for which the member has to fight and the government to fight for him in order to hold the seat.

* * *

The Winnipeg Commercial says: Free trade pure and simple or free trade in nature products would suit Manitoba, but any commercial union compact which would restrict our trade relationship with other countries, or bring Canada into a tariff compact with the United States, would certainly prove obnoxious to this country.

The Lethbridge News thinks that had there been a contest for the majority in that burgh there might have been 500 votes polled.

IMMIGRATION.

R. McKernan, whose return from an Ontario tour in the interests of immigration was mentioned a week or two ago, gives the following account of his operations. He left Edmonton on October 22nd, taking samples of soil and old lumber for exhibition. He remained in Calgary for some time and exhibited the samples in Janes' grocery store, the proprietor of which gave him every assistance in bringing the samples to the favoring attention of people. The samples were afterwards exhibited for two days in the Palace Hotel, where the proprietor also gave every assistance. There they were brought to the notice of several Dakota land hunters, and old country men, who were impressed very favorably with the prospects of the Edmonton district. After a stay of eleven days at Calgary Mr. McKernan went on to Ontario making a stay of only a few hours in Winnipeg. His first stop in Ontario was at Galt, Waterloo, and Kitchener, where he exhibited the samples at the station for one day. He went on to Stittsville, Carlton county, and exhibited in S. Morris' store for a week. The samples were viewed by farmers there far and wide, and they generally expressed great interest in them, as the wheat grain was never grown in the field—it must have been forced in the garden. His next stop was in Ottawa, but could not get a good place to exhibit. After a rest of eight days he went on to Montreal where he remained one day. During the time he was exhibiting the grain he distributed about 400 Edmonton pamphlets, being careful to place them in such a manner as to let them to advantage. On his return to Edmonton he began trading again a month and a half in various parts of the county of Carlton, visiting at farm houses and receiving visits from enquiring farmers who desired to discuss the merits of the wheat as compared with their own. He fully expressed the intention of visiting Edmonton in the spring or next summer. Crops were poor in Carlton county last season owing to wet weather, which caused rust. Times were difficult, but the wheat trade was picking up so that wages were not low. Wherever he went he found a good impression regarding Edmonton and the people anxious to hear all they could about the country. It was generally admitted that Edmonton was the finest city of the Northwest. A great number of people had gone of late years to Dakota and Manitoba, but the people were more anxious to hear of Edmonton than of either of the other fields. The reports from Manitoba were not very encouraging. Those from Manitoba were more hopeful. After leaving Carlton county he visited Collingwood and Barrie and their surrounding country. A number of farmers in Collingwood and surrounding would not come back and having gone down in value recently they did not like to sell. Land was now worth $3,000 to $5,000 for 10 acres—acres required. The complaint was made that Manitoba and Prince Edward Island were reducing the prices of grain and beef as fast as possible. A number of Collingwood people had gone to Manitoba and the Northwest and were favorably impressed with the country. A number of Collingwood people from that part of the country were coming west to the spring, who will doubtless secure work on the railroads. Several families in Carlton county have arranged to leave for Edmonton early in the spring. Mr. McKernan's visit has impressed him more strongly than ever with the great advantages which the Northwest and particularly the Edmonton district offers to settlers and the superior opportunities afforded here as compared with even the best parts of Eastern Canada.

The Victoria Colonist holiday number is to hand, profusely and beautifully illustrated and printed on tinted paper. The population of Victoria is placed at 25,000, new buildings during year two million. Seal catch and 17,000 tons of coal, 10,000 tons of B.C. coal 488,176 tons, shipments of gold $411,777, salmon canned 396,012 cases, assessment of city $9,855,194. Total city debt $835,000.

In Gaspe, Algoma and Cariboo the returning officers are permitted to fix election day as far as 15 days earlier than 30 days after nomination. This is a chance that the Northwest constituencies of as great extent were not given. Is this fair play?

THAT PETITION.

To the Editor of the Edmonton BULLETIN.

SIR.—Last week in your reference to the petition sent to Ottawa by the general settlers of the Edmonton district respecting railway matters; your readers might get the impression that it was signed by a few persons only, instead of which, the petition was very largely and freely signed by all classes of persons; and the number could easily have been increased had time permitted.

You think the authorities may see that we are a house divided against itself; we do not fear this supposition; inasmuch as it will be evident from the names on the petition and their number that the government will be sustained by the "Edmonton District" in their wish to do what is best for the whole population in public matters, instead of giving special favors to a small class of traders and speculators, who seem, from your remarks, to assume that their interests alone are of any importance.

Again you overlook the object of the petition: it was to state a fact, viz: That the representatives of Edmonton village had no right to misrepresent the sentiment and feeling of the district respecting the railway crossing of the Saskatchewan; notwithstanding what you say, we do not think the public convenience is centered in your village nor do we conceive that your private interests and speculations are necessarily to be confounded with public interest and the permanent welfare of the entire population. In our petition we wished to speak for ourselves, we did not care by our silence to be further misrepresented.

In your talk sir, you think it witty to describe our action as selfishness (your action of course ought to have a finer name) but it is supposed to be worse than that—if the phrase could have any meaning, which we more than doubt—we are people who are gone mad by selfishness, because we do not wish to be misrepresented by public statements as to our opinions and wishes; on matters concerning which we are fairly interested, and able to form an average judgment of our own. If we are all mad and you kindly took us to your village, you would be surprised at our numbers, and you would then soon become a town of some sort, and more public buildings would be required at the expense of the government.

Yours &c.,
WILLIAM WILKIE.

Clover Bar, 10th February, 1891.

To the Editor of the Edmonton BULLETIN.

SIRS.—In justice to the petition which was published in your issue of last week, and also to the hundreds of settlers in the Edmonton district who have signed the same. I beg to state that the comments you have condescended to make through the medium of your paper, are without foundation and simply a weak defence in the interests of your village and the parties therein who have invested money solely for speculative purposes. Have the settlers of the Sturgeon river, Belmont, Poplar lake, Clover Bar and Fort Saskatchewan settlements not as much right to air their opinions (especially when they got the example from your village) as to the selection of a proper place, which they leave to the selection of the proper parties, for a railway crossing and other matter. In short you simply infer that Edmonton is the place above all others, and it is gross presumption on our part to send a petition stating that our views were misrepresented by petitions sent down by residents in your village.

In the usual routine of fair play, we as farmers have worked hard and spent money as well as the trades people of your village, and I consider that we deserve as much consideration in regard to a reward for our labors as you and yours do. In conclusion and with regard to the general tone and language of your article on said petition. I regret to note you had to use such insulting and abusive terms to strengthen your arguments.

Yours &c.,
PHILIP OTTEWELL.

Clover Bar, February 10th, 1891.

Calgary Herald: We learn that the Calgary and Edmonton railway company is starting an agent from Winnipeg to the states of Kansas and Nebraska, with a view to securing a large body of German settlers to settle along the C. & E. in Alberta. These settlers were wealthy Mennonites who bought large blocks of railway lands in the states named. The dry years have left them without crops and they are ready to leave for new territory. The prospect seems good for securing a considerable immigration from this quarter.

The Medicine Hat Times has taken the sensible course of advocating that section of the Northwest as a ranching country, and abandoning its former claims regarding its farming capabilities. The dry seasons do not permit of successful farming.

The Free Press announces editorially its absolute political independence—no doubt in view of the present election contest.
